DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Curington '122.

Curington discloses a down the hole drill assembly having an upper chamber (see fig. 1, at element 30), reciprocating piston (41), lower chamber (see fig. 2b area above plug 53), a drill bit (D) with a closed inner end (at 53), body (10) and face (around element 52) where exhaust passages (26,28,56,21,22, 50) are provided from the upper and lower chamber pass the inner end of the bit and through the body of the bit, to exit through the bit face (see col. 4, lines 1-17 and col. 6, lines 3-10).

Referring to claim 2, Curington discloses the exhaust passages exit via at least one vent (52) extending through the bit body for the bit face.

Referring to claim 3, Curington discloses the bit (D) has openings (50) extending transversely through the body of the bit into a blind bore (51) extending from the bit face.

Referring to claim 5, Curington discloses a bit (D) for the assembly defined in claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Curington '122 in view of Ennis 5,115,875.

Curington does not disclose a flushing air orifice. Ennis teaches a plug with flushing air orifice to allow additional flushing air to help cool the bit face and blow away chippings. As it would be advantageous to cool the bit face and blow away chippings, it would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the assembly disclosed by Curington to have a flushing air orifice in view of the teachings of Ennis.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 10/24/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Referring to arguments concerning the Currington reference, the applicant states the chamber 65 exhausts through the ports (41a) into the borehole and therefore does not disclose exhaust passage for the upper chamber past the inner end of the bit. However, as broadly claimed, the area in Fig. 1A labeled element 30 can also be considered a chamber. This area connects to exhaust passages (26, 55) and these passages can connect to passageway (21,22, 50) when the piston moves to its upper position as seen in fig. 2b (see col. 6, lines 3-10).

Referring to argument concerning the Ennis reference, this reference was used only for it teaching concerning having a flushing orifice in order to provide additional flushing air to a drill bit face.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
